- g. The Mobile Communications Center of XI Corps, (or the PCV), is located two kilometers northeast of the village of Sesvete, and 600 meters east of Popovac, in the Dubrava woods. The area is quite marshy. The Center is fenced by two rows of barbed wire and mine fields which are five meters wide. All vehicles and other motorized equipment of the battalion, as well as horses, carts and wagons are kept in this area. Reserve stocks of radio-telegraphy, and telegraph and telephone equipment are also stored here. The commander of the PCV is Lt. Miodrag Nikolic who is also in command of the guards. The Center has five permanent guard posts and four night details. The commander and guards are replaced every two or three months from units of the battalion. Permanent housing in this area is provided to drivers, grooms, and supply attendants. Enlisted men of the battalions are transported to this area in vehicles assigned by the motorized battalion, for tactical maneuvers. The total permanent strength of the PCV is one officer, one active non-commissioned officer, two to three non-commissioned officers on military service, approximately 50 enlisted men and 25 drivers.
